10:00 Introductions and Roll Call

10:15 Stream Health Workgroup Membership Survey

A review of the results from the recent SHWG Membership Survey.

10:20 Chesapeake Monitoring Cooperative and the Use of Citizen Science to Fill Chessie BIBI Data Gaps – Emily Bialowas (Chesapeake Monitoring Cooperative)

The CMC has GIT funding for filling in Chessie BIBI data gaps with the help of citizen scientists. Emily will be providing an update to the project and accepting feedback at this time.

10:35 Macroinvertebrate structural and functional Responses to abiotic Alterations from Best Management Practices in Urban and Agricultural Streams: A Review – Abigail Belvin (Virginia Tech)

Abigail is a PhD student at Virginia Tech, supervised by Sally Entrekin. She will be presenting her proposed design for a review of scientific papers that take place in four physiographic regions (Coastal Plain, Piedmont, Appalachian Plateau, and Valley and Ridge) focusing on agricultural and urban disturbances to freshwater macroinvertebrate communities. She would like feedback on how well the study design fits into the greater project, and what she can do to make it connect better to the Stream Health WG's work.
