10:15 Lessons learned from Clarksburg, Maryland: Impacts of suburban development and distributed stormwater control on stream functions. Krissy Hopkins, USGS

The U.S. Geological Survey partnered with Montgomery County, Maryland to conduct an innovative study to document what happens when agricultural land is converted to suburban development with green stormwater infrastructure practices incorporated into the design of the neighborhood. The monitoring, which took place over two decades, included changes in water quantity, water quality, topography, and aquatic life in the streams. Krissy will present the findings from the study.

10:55 Advanced IDDE Program Credit. David Wood, CSN. Attach B.

The Nutrient Discharges from Gray Infrastructure Expert Panel report, approved in November 2014, included a phase out of the Advanced Nutrient Discovery Program Credit at the end of 2017. In February, 2017 the USWG voted to extend the credit to 2020. David will once again review the credit and ask the USWG for a decision on sunseting the credit.

Decision Requested: The USWG will be asked to affirm the proposed sunseting of the Advanced IDDE program credit.

11:15 Discussion on Federal Infrastructure Funding. Full Workgroup Discussion.

In September, 2021, the USWG discussed proposed federal legislation that would provide additional funding for Chesapeake Bay restoration activities. Since that discussion, the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law was passed, and more information is available about where the funds be directed, and what implications it may have for stormwater and restoration funding.

We will receive a series of rapid updates from each state about how the new federal legislation is being allocated in their programs, and what workgroup members and local stakeholders should know.

12:00 Adjourn.
