

Jennifer Reed-Harry

Jennifer Reed-Harry has been following environmental regulations and legislation for the past 20+ years with a watchful eye for how it will impact the livelihood of Pennsylvania farmers and agribusiness.

Jennifer serves on many state committees with direct oversight on issues such as compliance with Chesapeake Bay mandates, EPA, CAFO issues and land application of manure.

Jennifer joined PennAg Industries Association in 2009 and works on issues related to environmental regulations and legislation, transportation, workforce labor; aquaculture; 4R's as well as serves as a registered lobbyist. In addition, Jennifer serves as the State Liaison for Aquaculture. Jennifer is also the Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Soybean Board as well as the Eastern Region Soybean Board.

PennAg Industries Association is an agriculture trade association with more than 600 business members and has been in existence since 1878. Whose mission focuses on working to create and maintain an effective, viable and competitive environment for Pennsylvania agribusiness to grow and prosper.

Prior to joining PennAg, Jennifer has worked for the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau for 1 year at the Natural Resources Director; Country View Family Farms (the largest swine producer in Pennsylvania) for 7 years where she oversaw Growth and Expansion of the contract farms in PA, New York, Ohio and Indiana. She began her career at the Fulton County Conservation District where she served as District Manager and Erosion and Sedimentation lead for 8 years.

Jennifer has a Bachelor of Science Degree in Agribusiness from Delaware Valley College, located in Doylestown, PA. (This is now known as Delaware Valley University).