

Matt Monroe
Assistant Director – Environmental Programs
Regulatory and Environmental Affairs Division
West Virginia Department of Agriculture

Matt Monroe received his Bachelor of Science magna cum laude from Morehead State University in 1997. After graduation, he worked for a brief period of time in the wastewater industry in Morehead, Kentucky and then moved to West Virginia to begin working for the West Virginia Department of Agriculture.

During his seventeen year tenure at the Department of Agriculture, his responsibilities have included aquaculture regulation and promotion, water quality monitoring program oversight, development of nutrient management, CAFO and agricultural BMP Verification programs, involvement in environmental issues such as Chesapeake Bay restoration, the Gulf of Mexico Hypoxia initiative, water quality trading, and state nutrient criteria development. Matt has been married for 22 years, has 3 sons and resides in Petersburg, WV.