

Comments about the Toxic Climate-Smart Workshop:

- Overview of the workshops
The workshops were interesting and the group was able to apply the concepts to a legitimate challenge, which is how climate-smart planning can be applied to PCB TMDLs.
- Thoughts on items that didn't work/had challenges
Biggest challenge was to translate the principles to something practical that we could ask partners to actually use. Adding an additional element to an already complex challenge (implementing TMDLs) is overwhelming to stakeholders.
- Thoughts on what was/is helpful
The logic behind the framework is sound and reasonable. It was helpful to have the CRW make arrangements for the work session (workshop).
- How you'd like help moving forward ... If the tool is not helpful, what would be helpful for you to have?
More time dedicated to translating the concepts to a tool kit that will allow efficient application of the framework by jurisdictions that are responsible for PCB TMDLs.
- What is it that you need from the Climate Resiliency Workgroup?
Facilitation of the previous answer.
